LADY JACKETS VS KENTUCKY WESLEYAN

September 26, 2017

"A Day in the Life of a Lady Jacket"

Another week has come and went! This past week we played both of our games at home. On Thursday, September 21, we played a hard fought game against Ohio Dominican. Unfortunately, we lost 3-1. On Saturday, we turned things around and beat Findlay 2-0! Thank you to all of the fans and parents who came to watch. It was a fun weekend and the baked goods we received made it even better.

Now I bet many of you are wondering, what is it like to be a Lady Jacket? If you were a player on CUWS your day would go something like this...

7 a.m. - 9 a.m. / Wake up.

This depends on what time you have class or if you plan to go to chapel. Now, if you are anything like Jocelyn Quirple or other early birds, you would get up before the sun rises. But if you are like most of us you would wake up at 7:45 a.m. for an 8 a.m. class.

After a game day: You understand what it feels like to have been hit by a bus.

After an away game day: You wonder if it is legal for me to have an 8:30 a.m. class after getting back to school at 2 a.m.?

9 a.m. - 10 a.m. / You get ready.

This is the time where many of us ask ourselves whether or not it is worth it to look nice. Is it worth putting on a dress or a nice shirt when I will have to change for practice later? Should I wear my hair up or down? I've worn my hair up so much, but that always seems like the best option most days. That is why MWF and TR classes are such a blessing. You could wear the same exact outfit two days in a row and no one would know.

10 a.m. / Chapel.

11 a.m. - 2 p.m. / Lunch.

This events normally starts in chapel or in our group message with questions like "Is anyone eating now?", "Who's going to lunch?", "Anyone in Chuck's?"

It is not required to sit with the team every day, but we do. We all always start by checking to see what is in the "home cooking" line. If it looks appetizing or we can at least recognize it, it is a quick easy meal to eat. If we are not sure if that is meat or a potato, we cook something on the grill. Carbo-loading is a good option every day. We've got a game tomorrow...carbo-load. We had a game yesterday...carbo-load and drink chocolate milk. We have a game coming up soon...carbo-load.

3 p.m. - 4:30 p.m. / Pre-practice.

This is an interesting part of the day when you start to reflect on the fact that soccer will take up approximately the next three-ish hours of your life.

This is the time to take a nap before practice, eat some snacks in the locker room, do homework, or get some extra touches on the ball in.

5 p.m. - 6:55 p.m. / Practice.

Chloe West sums up this time best in one of her 2014-15 blogs.

"Most of the time practice is interesting and diverting. After all, you do love this sport. But, you're lying to yourself if you don't admit to at least considering learning how to tell time by the sun. Thankfully, you don't have to, as you've developed a very extensive code for indirectly asking for the time. ("So if you were cooking a chicken...what temperature would you set...maybe 545...degrees?"). You've also perfected the I-may-look-like-I-care-about-overlapping-runs-but-really-I'm-looking-straight-past-you-and-at-the-rotisserie-chicken-I-hope-is-left-at-Chuck's face. Very effective. You divide the rest of your time praying you don't hear the words "fitness" or "on the line," wondering why coach always sees you pass to the other team but never sees you score a beautiful goal, and trying to figure out why the practice pinnies smell so bad." All in all, you stay engaged, have some fun, and successfully avoid wearing shin-guards for most of the time. It's a good day."

7 p.m. - 11 p.m. / Post-practice.

Do we have enough time to ice bath before dinner? Do we have enough time to even make it to dinner? Will there be any food left in Chuck's (hopefully at least be chicken at Habanero)? After dinner, this is the time where you figure out how you will spend the remainder of your night. Should I shower now or after I do homework? Should I do homework in the library (Club Lib) or should I go somewhere to actually get work done? If you go to the conversational section of the library, prepare to get very little work finished. After not getting much done, it's time for bed or time to actually be productive. Soon this will all repeat.

Maybe tomorrow I will look nice for class...or not.

Go Jackets.

Tonight's Game

The Cedarville University women's soccer team hosts the Kentucky Wesleyan College Panthers in a Great Midwest Athletic Conference (G-MAC) contest tonight at Yellow Jacket Field.

Head Coach Jamie Duvall is in his seventh year at the helm of the KWC women's program (43-57-6).

Freshman forward Madisyn Hunt leads the Panther scoring efforts with four goals and two assists for 10 points. Kamryn Pulliam and Breigh Haase have each tallied a pair of goals.

Alyssa Maillefer

Freshman keeper Taylor Rentchler has made 47 saves in goal while posting a 3.23 goals against average.

Cedarville leads the all-time series with KWC by a 5-4-1 margin with a 21-17 edge in goals scored. The teams met on Sept. 14, 2017 in Owensboro, Kentucky - a 3-2 decision for the Lady Jackets.
